1001 New Storytellers Fund

Introduction

The 1001 New Storytellers Fund is a pilot project in support of new and emerging storytellers taking courses with Storytelling Toronto. This award was established through the generosity of and in partnership with 1001 Friday Nights of Storytelling. This fund is intended to subsidize the partial cost (1/3) of a student's enrollment in one of three courses: Storytelling I: First Steps Into the Art of Storytelling; Summer Intensive; and Storytelling II: Next Steps.

Conditions of the Award

- For impartiality, all applicant names and personal information will be removed before the application is sent on to the Awards Committee; names and personal information will be kept confidential by the Storytelling Toronto Operations Manager
- The recipients are selected through a juried process. The jury is anonymous.
- Membership and/or support of Storytelling Toronto is not required
- Recipients of the fund will be informed at least two weeks before the start of the course
- Applications must be received by Storytelling Toronto in advance of the course the applicant wishes to take. Find full course descriptions and dates at www.storytellingtoronto.org/courses:
